Nosetouch Press to Publish the Debut Horror Novel of Author Coy Hall

[CHICAGO]Nosetouch Press announces the upcoming publication of the folk horror-influenced debut novel, Grimoire of the Four Impostors, by author Coy Hall, featuring several main characters—a monk, an executioner, occult scholar, and adventurer—each who encounter an impostor who subverts their knowledge of the world, opening their eyes to unimaginable horrors and dark truths.

“Coy’s excellent work has turned up in several earlier Nosetouch Press collections, including the highly regarded The Fiends in the Furrows anthologies,” said David Neal, co-publisher and editor-in-chief of Nosetouch Press, referring to the two-volume folk horror anthology that has been mentioned in the Guardian and several short stories of which have turned up in Best of Horror Fiction compilations. “We’re really happy to feature his novel. He’s a great writer with a distinctive vision and literary style that calls to mind the greats of classic weird fiction.”

A resident of Huntington, West Virginia and an associate professor with a Master of Arts in History from the University of Louisville, Hall’s expertise in European history of the 16th and 17th centuries and early 20th century American history served him well in the crafting of the Grimoire.

“Coy Hall brings an otherworldly mix of medieval and modern in his fiction,” said Christine Scott, co-publisher and creative director of Nosetouch Press. “This unique blend, as well as his evocative writing style makes for a powerful book that should captivate discerning readers of folk horror and darkly atmospheric fantasy/historical fiction.”

Grimoire of the Four Impostors will be released on September 7, 2021 in hardcover, paperback, and ebook formats.

Nosetouch Press is an independent book publisher tandemly based in Chicago and Pittsburgh, with a commitment to bringing classical book design and excellent fiction to readers.
